9. Click on the Take subject button

Meaning of course code tags: always seek for EN tags on English language first

EXAM ONLY (GOD): exam only for English program senior students in upper years, who took the class in earlier semester and already have the semester end signature, this course has no attendance just exam at the end of term

GOD-N-EN-MMUM1=PR01: GOD= Gödöllő Campus, N= full time, EN= English instruction, MMUM1= variable for training programmes, this is for Engineering management, PR01: practical course, EL00: theoretical course

If a subject has practical, theoretical, laboratory and field excursion courses as well, you have to take all the courses to fulfill successful registration

If it has only 2 types or one type, than that is enough to take.

10. If first you wish to check the planned subjects in the calendar, you shall add courses to the planner by settling the sidebar to yellow stage

11. Then click on OK button

Be aware to add all courses to be able to ensure no overlapping between courses.

But please note, that adding to planner is not equivalent to subject registration. For registration, you need to hit the blue Take subject button (previous slide)

The screenshot displays a web application for subject registration. At the top, a navigation bar includes a 'Menu' button with a red circle containing the number '12', a search icon, and the title 'Register for subject'. On the right, it shows 'Credits taken 0' and a date selector for 'September 2025' with navigation arrows and a red circle containing the number '14'. A left-hand sidebar menu lists various options: 'Favourites', 'Home', 'Calendar' (highlighted with a red circle and number '13' and a mouse cursor), 'Studies', 'Subject', 'Exams', 'Finances', 'Community spaces', 'Administration', and 'Information'. The main area is a weekly timetable for the week of September 9th to 12th, 2025. The view is set to 'Weekly view'. The timetable shows two practice sessions circled in red: 'Engineering Economic Mathematics' on Tuesday (9th) from 10:45 to 11:30, and 'Material Handling' on Wednesday (10th) from 10:00 to 10:45. A footer note states 'a are only visible in the List'.
